

Introduction to BROSH and its services

BROSH (Ballarat Regional Occupational Safety and Health Group) was established in 1974 by a group of people committed to promoting health and safety throughout the community.

Currently a committee of management oversees the activities of the group and ensures that members are well versed and kept up to date on current legislation and work practices involving health and safety.

Membership is available to any organisation and individuals across all industries with an interest in workplace health and safety.

Our health and safety focus, includes the following for members:

- Seminars and briefings with guest speakers
- Plant tours
- Conferences
- Networking functions, meetings and seminars
- Maintain an ongoing liaison with government authorities and other organisations working in the field of health and safety
